

The Northern Ireland Advancing Healthcare awards 2016

Winners guide

Congratulations to all our winners and finalists, this winner's guide gives a flavour of this year's shortlisted entries to the awards programme for AHPs in Northern Ireland. Our own Advancing Healthcare Awards 2016 has been over 12 months in the planning and preparation taking place alongside our annual conference 'building on the best'. The work described here shows the wealth of talent that we have in our midst.

Some doubted that there were enough of you prepared to come forward and tell us about your work. But by the closing date we had over 80 entries, with an impressive spread across the professions under the AHP umbrella. The shortlisting judges had their work cut out to select those to go forward to an action packed judging day in December. The judges we were impressed by the high standard, the creativity and the enthusiasm in the presentations. A great thank you to both the judges and the Clinical Education Centre who hosted the event for us.

None of this would have been possible without the support of our sponsors who were courageous enough to back this venture. We are most grateful to them for making both the awards programme, the celebration dinner and the professional conference possible.

So far so good, but it's not the end of the story. We have started to raise the profile of AHPs and provide a greater understanding of how this group of professionals contributes to high quality patient care. We must build on this and the examples set out here are an important resource to use to promote innovation and best practice.

HSC Leadership Centre
Providing Management and Organisation Development

A HSG examination is an intimately invasive, emotionally and psychologically challenging diagnostic procedure that is the front line test for infertility in women. We embarked on a stringent in-house training programme to perform and report HSG examinations under the guidance of our Consultant Radiologist. The introduction of this trail blazing radiographer-led HSG service is a leading light initiative within the Southern Trust. The implementation of this service has successfully reduced waiting lists for HSG examinations from 14 weeks to zero weeks and at the same time maintaining safe, high quality of care for the women and affording best use of resources.

eating, drinking and Swallowing eLearning

Swallowing difficulties, also known as dysphagia, is a leading cause of avoidable death. This project enabled the creation of the first eLearning in Northern Ireland on eating, drinking and swallowing. It revises knowledge of swallowing and awareness of the risks associated with dysphagia to keep people safe while eating and drinking.

SPECIAL RECOGNITION

Natalie Irwin
Reablement Occupational Therapist
Belfast HSCT

Natalie is an outstanding occupational therapist who never accepts an easy option and always rises to challenges put to her. Natalie is proactive in the development of the relatively new reablement service and has been involved in many initiatives.

Melanie Sheenan
Senior Occupational Therapist
Southern HSCT

Melanie, as the lone OT at the Memory Centre, has worked brilliantly to help people living with dementia. She thrives on creative problem solving and intuitively implements service improvement methodology on a day-to-day basis.

Carmel Fitzpatrick
Podiatrist
South Eastern HSCT

Carmel shows outstanding dedication and exceptional levels of competence. Her ingenuity in instigating a small but highly innovative change to the service to GP diabetic clinics has had a huge impact on patient care.

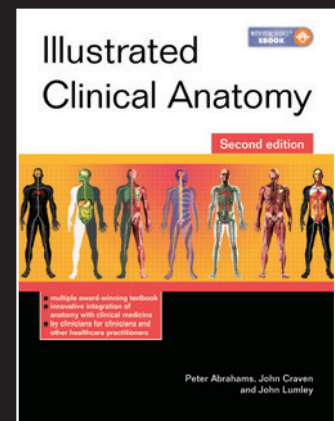

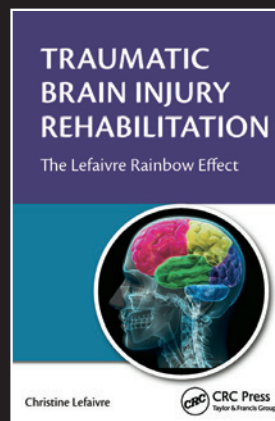

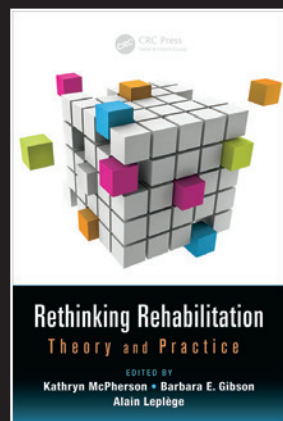

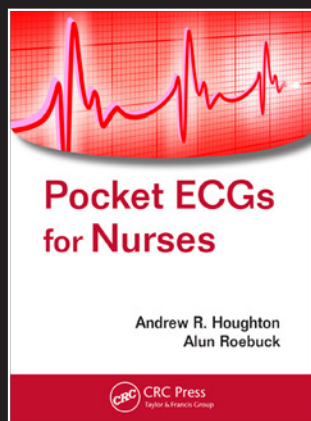

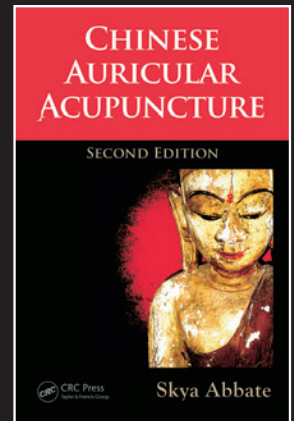

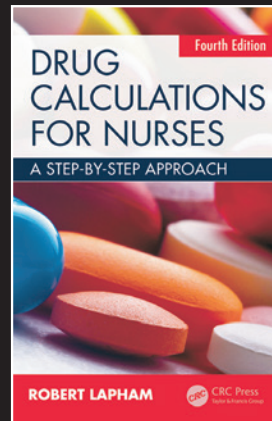

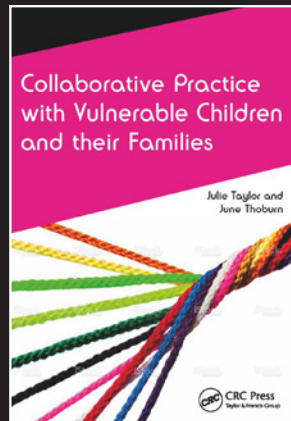

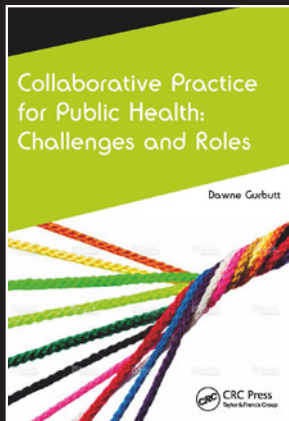

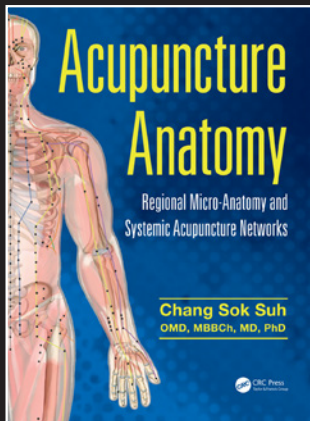

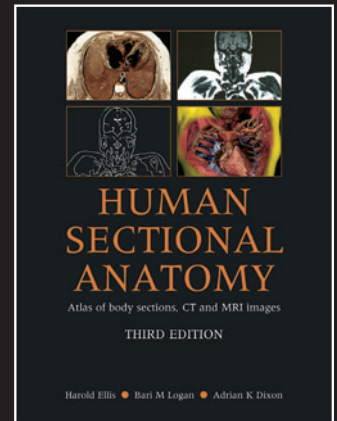

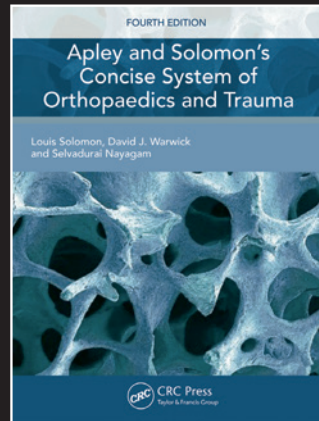

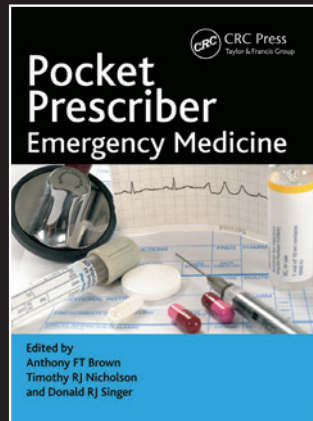

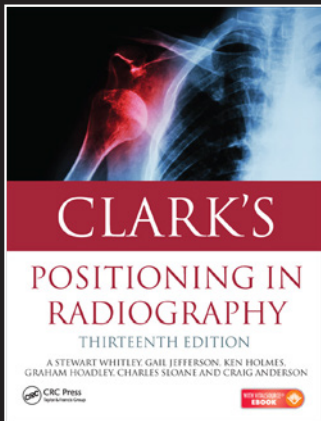

Lisa Lafferty
Acute Dietitian
Northern HSCT

Lisa is a wonderful people-person, passionate about dietetics and her patients. Lisa's enthusiasm and attitude has been infectious. Her acquired knowledge has given her a sought-after skill-set which she will be able to apply in all aspects of her life and career.
