2023 UNITED KINGDOM
Advancing healthcare awards
Allied health professionals & healthcare scientists

The Academy for Healthcare Science award for leadership in healthcare science

Sponsored by the Academy for Healthcare Science

The Healthcare Science Leadership award aims to recognise healthcare scientists, at any stage in their career, who:

- can demonstrate effective clinical leadership in their role
- followership/collaboration or works in coproduction and codesign
- can provide evidence of the impact of their leadership on improving patient care both directly or indirectly

Criteria

This award can either be self-nominated or a colleague or manager can nominate a member of their team. The nominee must be a Healthcare Scientist working in the UK who is leading either a multiprotection or uniprofessional team/project or programme of work and must demonstrate all the following:

- vision and drive for their workstreams
- initiative and responsibility
- commitment and resilience
- the impact of their effective clinical leadership on enhancing the quality/safety of patient care and safety.

Submission statements

1   Your/their vision and drive for the service/programme you/they work in (100 words)

2   How you/they have used your/their initiative and taken responsibility to 'do the right' thing in your/their role? (100 words)

3   Describe your/their commitment and resilience to continue to lead and develop the service (100 words)

4   Describe the effectiveness of your/their clinical leadership in enhancing the quality/safety of patient care.

Entries must be submitted online via the website forms – go to www.AHAwards.co.uk/uk/
and follow the ENTER NOW links.

KEY DATES
Awards launch: October 2022
Closing date for entries: 24Jan 2023
Judging: w/c 27 Feb & w/c 6 Mar 2023
Celebration Lunch: London 21 April 2023

AHCS
Academy for Healthcare Science